Abstract of the Programme
The department of English regularly organising the various activities for the enhancement of the knowledge of the college students regarding the English language and literature. Under various activities, the guest lecture is the crucial activity of the department. Under this activity, Dr.D.B.Munde, Head of the Department, Department of English, Sharda Mahavidyalaya, Parbhani was invited for the speech on the topic " The Impact of Gandhian Ideals on Indian English Literature." Dr.D.B.Munde Sir has given his detailed speech on the impact of Gandhian ideals on Indian English literature. He mentioned various examples of fiction, poetry and play, where there are many aspects found in Indian English literature. The Gandhian ideals are truth, non-violence, satyagraha, love, brotherhood, fraternity, equality which are found in many writers' writings. Indian English literature before and after independence was greatly influenced by Gandhism. The writers and readers' interest gave birth to Gandhian literature. The great Indian trio-R.K. Narayan, Mulk Raj Anand, Raja Rao and many other writers explored Gandhi's thoughts in their writings. Gandhian philosophy includes Truth, Non-violence, Satyagraha, Simplicity, Love, Brotherhood etc. All these very well established by R.K. Narayan in Waiting for the Mahatma, Mulk Raj Anand in Untouchable and Raja Rao in Kanthapura. All the characters of these novels are rooted and flourished in Indian ethics and Indian philosophy. They start their journey in the search of truth and way of life. Sometimes these characters fail as they have not followed Gandhism but if they are hailed, it is all because of following Gandhism. Mahatma Gandhi is a prevalent character in Indo-Anglian fiction dedicated to governmental issues and the battle for freedom. The Gandhian belief system was an intense power behind India's national upsurge. So no Indian English writer composing during this period could dodge the effect of Gandhian philosophy. Truth be told Gandhi turned into a common nearness in the books of the period. Indian English writing truly took another heading under his effect on issues of topic and style. Dr.Jaybhaye V.K. was present as the President of the programme, where Mr.Korde D.B. has introduced the programme as well as the guest to the students. Mr.Ravi Rathod from BATY conducted the programme and Ku.Pooja Rode proposed the vote of thanks! The programme was concluded by the singing of national anthem!
Outcomes of the Programme
The students of the department were understood the literary as well as revolutionary contribution of Mahatma

Gandhi. The students were benefitted regarding the nature of Indian English literature and it's various aspects regarding the Indian freedom struggle and Mahatma Gandhi. The department of English is always striving to introduce the new horizons of the literary aspects of the Indian writings in English. It is usually noticed that the students are very eager to listen innovative topics of discussion. It is nice experience regarding the outcome of the guest lecturers by the scholars from the other faculties.
